A. Read the following text.

Mika was looking for a snack to eat after school. She was very hungry. She saw all kinds of food in her kitchen. "Mom, what should I have for a snack?" Mika asked.

"You can have anything you want, as long as it's healthy!" her mom answered from the living room. Mika stopped. "What does that mean, Mom?" Mika asked again. Her mom came into the kitchen.

"Well, Mika, there are different kinds of food," Mika's mom said. "Some of them taste very good but are not good for our health. We have to make sure that we eat healthy food." How do we know what kind of food is good for us?" Mika wondered. "See, Mika," her mom added, "This is a food pyramid. It shows us how many servings of grains, vegetables, fruits, milk, meat and beans we should eat every day." Mika smiled happily.
